Session Tips

Remove tight fitting clothes 2 hrs before your session

Think about where you are hoping to place your image and discuss with us prior to the shoot the best backgrounds & any ideas you may have to compliment your home.

Many newborns are photographed naked, this can be messy. Please bring a change of clothes for yourself and extra nappies

Babies are most cooperative when they have a full tummy and are nice and warm. Bring extra milk for top ups, and wear light clothing as the studio is kept very warm.

Bring any personal props that you might like to use, we do supply some but it is always more personal if you have your own special 'something'

If you would like to have family/sibling shots during your newborn session, please let me know in advance of the shoot. Young siblings can get very bored so it is often a good idea if they can be entertained with a trip to the park/cafe etc whilst the focus is on baby.

Allow up to four hours for your session.

Relax and enjoy the session, your bundle will cry but most settle eventually after a cuddle and feed. I won't be stressed so please don't worry.

If you are having a location session in your own home, please ensure you have a tidy round before we start.
